Sweet Peas.

The Grandiflora Type are still demanded in large quantities, and continue to be the main standby. The Spencers, while truly magnificent, still prove their erratic nature, sportiveness, and untrueness to type. It is impossible to tell what the purest stock this year will produce another season. This is not only the experience of growers, but also of some dealers, who to convince themselves thoroughly, tried to obtain better results, only to be disappointed. There is no doubt an honest effort is being made to produce this type more satisfactory, but there is that in its nature, over which the grower has no control, and the variances for which he can not be accountable. Consequently, while we shall continue by every means possible to produce a true and satisfactory stock of Spencer Type, we positively will not be responsible for the results, and will only invite contracts with this understanding.
